

www.bookgroup.info

Newsletter No 19
Sept 2004

Dear readers,

September's Reviews feature crossovers – books with appeal to both older children/teens and adult readers. We review: How I Live Now by Meg Rossoff, Le Grand Meaulnes by Alain – Fournier, I Capture The Castle by Dodie Smith, The Curious Incident Of The Dog In The Night Time by Mark Haddon and Riddley Walker by Russell Hoban.

Bookgroup of the Month is The Friendliest Group in The World, (they say 100% guaranteed!) They meet in Manchester and have a very good time.

How do you compare? Does your group like to specialise in a particular genre of writing e.g. crime, non – fiction or classics? Would you like to be our next Bookgroup of the Month? Simply send an email to info@bookgroup.info with your responses to the questions, and if you are featured we will reward you with a £10 voucher to buy books.

July's competition winners are Geraldine Wilson of Blackburn, Angela Aouane of Alicante Spain, Bella Williams of Brighton, Ferelith Horton of London SW18 and Claire Richards of Devon.
Congratulations!

September's competition winners will receive hardback copies of How I Live Now (see review) so click the button...

Please tell us about yourselves!
Please register your group at www.bookgroup.info where you can also exchange ideas and information on the forum. Let's keep the contact and good discussion going. Bookgroups thrive on word-of-mouth, often avoiding all the hype. So please use us to pass on those ideas!

As always, your comments about our reviews are very important. Please send us your opinions. Does your rating system match ours?

R4 Bookclub has an exciting upcoming menu of featured writers – Paul Auster (September), Will Self (October) and Pat Barker (November) Go to www.bbc.co.uk for all the details, and to apply to be part of the Bookclub audience.

Liverpool Reads. Launched this month, this new scheme aims to get all Liverpool reading the same book. This year's chosen title is Holes by Louis Sachar. Libraries have stocked up and Holes will be on sale half price all over Merseyside. Seattle and Bristol have already done it, and Liverpool intends to keep the scheme going for some years.

Children's fiction is definitely on a roll... Michelle Paver has been paid an amazing £2m advance for her first children's novel Wolf Brother. At the Frankfurt Book Fair Paver said she was "over the moon". Go to www.guardian.co.uk/books for the full story.

Shirley Hughes has won the Kate Greenaway medal and £5,000 prize for Ella's Big Chance a modernisation of the Cinderella story. The Cilip Carnegie medal went to Jennifer Donnelly for A Gathering Light.

The Book People sells books in workplaces and via catalogues and has a new catalogue called The Reading Group, which as the name suggests is specifically targeted.

Racketeers' Top 10 Books is a varied and interesting list, with some surprises, and defies stereotypes. The list is: 1. Waterland by Graham Swift. 2. The Honorary Consul by Graham Greene. 3. Brick Lane by Monica Ali. 4. Surfacing by Margaret Atwood. 5. Black Boy by Richard A Wright. 6. Franny and Zooey by JD Salinger. 7. The Secret History by Donna Tartt. 8. The Golden Age by Gore Vidal. 9. Stars and Bars by William Boyd. 10. Cheaters by Eric Jerome Dickey. Read more at www.observer.co.uk 15.8.04

Guardian Children's Fiction Prize & Competition: 4 novels have made the shortlist: Millions by Frank Cottrell Boyce, How I Live Now by Meg Rossoff, No Shame, No Fear by Anne Turnbull and Last Train From Kummarsdorf by Leslie Wilson.
Note we are featuring an interview with Meg Rossoff on the website.

There is still time for young, aspiring critics to give their views of the books and win the entire longlist for their schools. Deadline for competition entries is September 23rd. Go to www.guardian.co.uk/books for all the info.

Guardian First Book Prize A longlist for the £10,000 prize has been drawn...the award intends to recognise and reward writing by first – time authors. This year had a bumper crop of entries. Go to www.guardian.co.uk/books/firstbook/2004 for the full story.

Our email is, as ever, info@bookgroup.info please stay in touch and share your ideas with us.
If you don't want to receive newsletters please let us know, by email.

www.bookgroup.info